Who We Favor For Governor.

Numerous requests have been received at this office to insert certain articles in favor of some particular man as a candidate for Governor. Plates showing us likenesses of certain men have also been furnished us gratis for a place in our columns. Now it is not a matter of indifference on the part of the News-Herald as to the candidate who shall be chosen that has been the cause of our silence, but the fact that any one of the half dozen or more of the men whose names are mentioned would, in our opinion, make an excellent Executive. On account of this opinion, and the additional fact that those who are apparently most talked of are not in this section of the State, causes us to say that we favor the man who shall be selected by the State Convention. In taking this non-committal position it is in order to avoid the error that some of our contemporaries have drifted into—the error of trying to discuss in an unbiased way the merits and availability of a number of the men whose names will come before the convention, and yet in that discussion showing a preference. As an instance of this, we would mention our neighbor, the Cyclone-Republican, of Fayette county (although it is not an isolated one). An Observer of that journal discusses a number of men under the head of "Can You Guess the Winner?" Excuse us on the guess, but it is not a difficult task to guess who Observer favors. It is not a desire to raise any objection against any sheet which is working in the interest of any candidate that leads to these remarks, but rather as an explanation of the position which we occupy in this contest. It has been urged through these columns that measures of policy and principal were of greater importance than men. The men are all right, and since the men are all right we return to measures, and again we urge that that the question of taxation. Of the enforcement of law—and certainly it is pertinent for the Republican State Convention to say to cities like Cincinnati that they are only a part of the Commonwealth of Ohio and that it is the duty of the biggest city of the State to obey State laws—purity of elections—Sunday traffic. The liquor traffic as it now exists should be treated in a clear and sensible manner, and the result of the work of the convention is a foregone conclusion that Republicanism will be triumphant.

Five Dollars in Gold.

Five dollars is not a large sum of money, but it works grand results sometimes. One of the instances in which that sum has wrought—we might say wonders—has just come to a close by the above amount being awarded to Miss Maggie Detwiler as having prepared the best herbarium of her class. This prize was competed for by the whole class, which was a large one. The impetus resulted in the production of near thirty grand herbariums, consisting of fifty different varieties of plants native to this region. The management and the pupils both have reflected much credit to themselves in the work done, and was carefully looked over, and the prize awarded by Mr. O. N. Sams, who is well versed in botany. The award, as considered by Mr. Sams, was on the perfection of the plants selected, the handiwork of each contestant, the penmanship and the thoroughness of analysis.

The class consisted of the following members: Maggie and Irene Detwiler, Fred Gamble, Julius Feibel, Ella Buck, Hattie Mahan, Feekin Walker, Elva Foreman, Florence Harsha, Kate Lemon, Lorie Hughey, Gertrude Miller, Nellie Perin, Lena Ellifritz, Edith Johnson, Paul Fullerton, Florence Rickman, Arthur Carson, Bessie Utman, Bessie Grove, Ella Muntz, Mary Barrere, Anna Lemon, Ida McCoppin, Mary Stabler, Eliza Doorley, Randolph Harris, James McMullen, John Parker and Harry Miller.

The work of each pupil was presented to Mr. Sams by number, and his finding by numbers resulted in finding that No. 2, which was Maggie Detwiler's, was of the highest merit. That Nos. 1 and 15 were of equal merit. Also Nos. 6 and 22 tied. Nos. 3, 5, 7, 9 and 14 were equal in merit. We do not know the names of the pupils which the above numbers represent. We had the privilege of examining some of the work, and it certainly was very fine. Mr. O. N. Sams was seen and says: "The herbariums of the class evinced the most care and painstaking in preserving and mounting the specimens, and exhibited as much thoroughness of analysis as any I have ever seen. The plants they collected and analyzed during the term represent above thirty orders, and in a fair manner acquaint them with the spring flora of this region. The flowers were very tastefully and neatly arranged—enough so to satisfy the most aesthetic. The analysis was complete, accurate and exhaustive. A remarkable uniformity characterized the most of their work, showing a common effort to excel. In fact it was only after a diligent and careful analysis and grading of all the specimens that my conclusion was arrived at, and the result, while an undoubted compliment to Miss Detwiler, proved also that there were others in the contest not far behind her in merit. The work of this botanical class shows a degree of thoroughness which, I believe, the citizens of our town and even the parents of the botanical pupils, many of them do not appreciate or even know to exist in our public schools. Certainly the standing of the class reflects great credit on the present management of our schools, and especially is Mr. Smith excusable for feeling a just pride in a class whose exertions in this their maiden effort as practical botanists he has directed so successfully."

We clip the following from the Nodaway Herald of Missouri. Mr. Roberts was formerly a citizen of this county, residing near Sugartree Ridge.

On Tuesday of this week Mr. Ephraim Roberts, living west of town, had the misfortune to lose his house by fire. The fire was first detected by Miss Ella Roberts who gave the alarm, and although assistance was soon on ground the entire building, smoke house and wood house were all consumed. A large pile of wood was entirely burned, a great number of fruit and ornamental trees scorched and killed. Even the woodwork in their cave caught on fire and burned so that the roof fell in and all of their fruit, canned goods and household supplies were destroyed, in fact nothing but a few articles of furniture were saved. As there was no insurance this is a total loss to Mr. Roberts and family, there being many articles destroyed that can never be replaced. The family will make their home with Mr. N. H. Roberts until they can rebuild.
